How Much Money Do I Need to Retire?

To be financially ready to retire by age 67, aim to have 10x your final salary saved at retirement.*

*This rule of thumb is applicable for investors with a broad range of income, from about $50,000 to $300,000 a year. The 10x savings rules of thumb are developed assuming age-based asset allocations consistent with the equity glide path of a typical target date retirement fund, a 15% savings rate, a 1.5% constant real wage growth, a retirement age of 67 and a planning age through 93. The replacement annual income target is defined as 45% of pre-retirement annual income and assumes no pension income. This target is based on Consumer Expenditure Survey 2011 (BLS), Statistics of Income 2011 Tax Stat, IRS 2014 tax brackets and Social Security Benefit Calculators. Fidelity developed the salary multipliers through multiple market simulations based on historical market data, assuming poor market conditions to support a 90% confidence level of success. These simulations take into account the volatility that a typical target date asset allocation might experience under different market conditions. Volatility of the stocks, bonds and short-term asset classes is based on the historical annual data from 1926 through the most recent year-end data available from Ibbotson Associates, Inc. Stocks (domestic and foreign) are represented by Ibbotson Associates S&P 500 Total Return Index, bonds are represented by Ibbotson Associates S&P/BBI U.S. Intermediate Term Government Bonds Total Return Index, and short term are represented by Ibbotson Associates S&P/BBI 30-day U.S. Treasury Bills Total Return Index, respectively. It is not possible to invest directly in an index. All indices include reinvestment of dividends and interest income. All calculations are purely hypothetical and a suggested salary multiplier is not a guarantee of future results; it does not reflect the return of any particular investment or take into consideration the composition of a participant's particular account. The salary multiplier is intended only to be one source of information that may help you assess your retirement income needs. Remember, past performance is no guarantee of future results. Performance returns for actual investments will generally be reduced by fees or expenses not reflected in these hypothetical calculations. Returns also will generally be reduced by taxes.

ACTION STEP

Track your spending and create or refine your budget. How might your budget change in retirement?
Housing Allowance – Excludable Income

Based on the IRS guideline, the amount excludible from federal gross income is the lesser of:

1. Amount designated as housing allowance by Portico.
2. Annual amount spent for primary residence, including: down payment, mortgage principal and interest, utilities, taxes, insurance, maintenance, and furnishings.
3. Fair rental value of the home, including furnishings and cost of utilities.

What effect might recent litigation have on housing allowance?
Health Care Costs in Retirement

To have a 90% chance of covering all health care costs in retirement:

- A man would need about $124,000
- A woman would need about $140,000

According to Fidelity Benefits Consulting, a 65-year-old couple retiring this year will need an average of $275,000 (in today's dollars) to cover medical expenses throughout retirement.

2. Estimate based on a hypothetical couple retiring in 2017, 65 years old, with life expectancies that align with Society of Actuaries’ RP-2014 Healthy Annuitant rates with Mortality Improvements Scale MP-2016. Estimates are calculated for “average” retirees, but may be more or less depending on actual health status, area of residence, and longevity. Estimate is net of taxes. The Fidelity Retiree Health Care Costs Estimate assumes individuals do not have employer-provided retiree health care coverage, but do qualify for the federal government’s insurance program, Original Medicare. The calculation takes into account cost-sharing provisions (such as deductibles and coinsurance) associated with Medicare Part A and Part B (inpatient and outpatient medical insurance). It also considers Medicare Part D (prescription drug coverage) premiums and out-of-pocket costs, as well as certain services excluded by Original Medicare. The estimate does not include other health-related expenses, such as over-the-counter medications, most dental services, and long-term care. Life expectancies based on research and analysis by Fidelity Investments Benefits Consulting group and data from the Society of Actuaries, 2014.
